The Olive Tree Initiative, a diverse group of UCI students, is embarking on a journey to the Middle East where they will directly engage with and hear perspectives from Israeli and Palestinian academics, civilians, community leaders, and other figures with first-hand knowledge of the conflict.

The mission of the journey is to gain knowledge beyond what is available in second-hand information and the mainstream media, to hear directly from Israelis and Palestinians about the ongoing conflict, and to share this learning with the on and off campus community.
